

PARIS, TX VS THE 333rd REICH

Written by: Nimrod Tzarking

UNKNOWN
STATOSPHERE
AFAMILES

WELCOME TO PARIS

Even while the tiger sleeps, it dreams. The brave and depraved folks of the Occult Underground walk those dreams every day- using them, changing them, surviving them. They do their best to keep the peace, different factions keeping each other in check. The occult underground isn't balanced the way a checkbook or a government is supposed to be balanced. It's balanced the way nature is balanced, rival powers rising up and striking down.

Paris is what happens when a few bad dreams have time to get greedy. A cabal of neo-Nazis have put a whammy on the city, and they can't maintain the status quo for long. Every day their little axis widens its gyres, though they might not know it yet. If one were brave enough, crafty enough or ruthless enough, they could be swindled, driven out, or even brought to justice.

Nobody works alone, though. Collaborators and counter-conspirators compete to prop the regime up, replace it altogether or simply to profit for as long as possible. Whatever your plans, you're likely to ruffle somebody's feathers. Paris, Texas is a powder keg on paper, ready for enterprising players to come light the match.

A RECENT HISTORY OF PARIS, TX

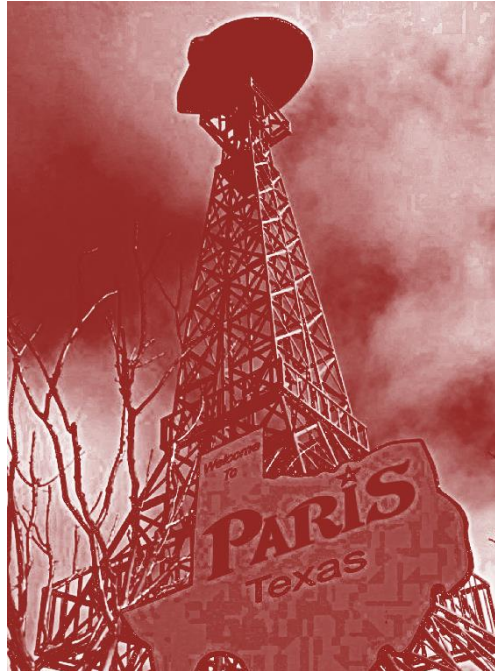

History's a funny thing to talk about in Paris, on account it keeps growing. Not just growing forwards in the usual fashion, but actually backwards and sideways as well. As a result, it's hard to start from the beginning. Instead, we'll start from the divergence.

Nobody's exactly sure what led to the collapse of Wolfgang Compagniere's reality, the Neverwhen Frenchman himself among them. Upon arriving in our world, Wolfgang sought to learn everything about it, his obsession leading him to the study of history and, ultimately, cliomancy.

Wolfgang, a hard and unpleasant man, fell in love with Nazism as soon as he encountered it, and was overcome with bitterness that his new home had 'rejected' them. He plotted to use his magical and political prowess to bring them back- and so far, he's found this reality's natives to be most helpful.

Compagniere's campaign took off in earnest roughly one year ago, dropping a single major charge as part of a complex ritual. Since that day, a black heart has beat in the heart of the city's catacombs. With every heartbeat Paris, Texas steals more space and history from the city of Paris, France, which has already been delegated to a gimmicky French town with a replica Eiffel tower.

This would be chaotic enough on its own, but Wolfgang is a driven old monster and he plans for the long term. His agents have infiltrated every level of the Parisian municipal government and city services. Some are full-blown Nazi cultists, others are mundane white supremacists. Most are everyday folk, distressingly comfortable living under a Nazi regime that never announces itself as such.

The city has enacted two controversial policies in the last 6 months. The first is a Religious Freedom Act, allowing business owners, city workers and emergency services to refuse to offer help if it conflicts with their deeply-held personal convictions. The second has been the institution of a City ID, required for accessing public services and public spaces. The process of receiving the ID is relatively time-consuming, and the new policy was not well-advertised during the initial grace period. Now, anyone without a City ID is in the peculiar bind of needing to enter a government building to apply for the right to enter a government building, among other hassles.

Of course, there are some things that don't make clear sense even after we account for the machinations of a Nazi warlock from a dead reality. For instance, why have all non-IBM electronics slowly trickled out of town? Why do greasy white hand-prints cover all of the city's manhole covers?

And why, for the love of God, is the radio always playing 2000 Light-years From Home whenever I tune in?

CULTURE OF PARIS, TX

Paris, Texas has assimilated a significant portion of France's space and history, growing to a notable metropolis in its own right. For most people, this means their memories quietly adjust to accommodate the new history.

As far as everyone knows Paris, Texas has always been a world star in commerce, art and fashion. People travel from all over the world to tour the Louvre and attend the Sorbonne (pronounced 'Love-ray' and Sore-bone-ay if you want to fit in). The city has been the setting of many a classic film, and world wide the pink hat of the Eiffel tower is synonymous with 'Texas.'

That said, the city maintains its rustic roots. The people still love their bible and their cook-outs. Be sure to sample such fusion dishes as the croissant-dog and the brisket baguette, while finding time to watch the Paris Saints down at the football stadium.

CATCHING ON

Realizing that the history of Paris, TX is changing provokes a rank-5 Unnatural check. Characters may roll secrecy to realize what's happening upon visiting Paris for the first time, or at the GM's discretion whenever the PC is confronted with evidence of the change in history.

See Book 3 for more information on Neverwhen People (p. 63) and Climancy (26)

FACTIONS

LOCAL FACTIONS

THE 333rd REICH

Notable Members: Wolfgang Compiegne, Mayor Randolph Hutsler, Brandt Novak, Police Chief Lance Albus, Fire Marshall Craig Phillips, Dr. Josefina Masters

Alliances: Regis Eglon (The Burger Builders by proxy)

A layered conspiracy of Nazis, chargers, and Nazi chargers, the 333rd Reich have gripped the heart of Paris. Though their immediate focus is local, their plans and methods hold cosmic implications.

HISTORY

Compiegne's fascination with magic and history eventually led him to Brandt Novak, a local newspaper editor and urbanomancer with similar political sympathies. Together they were able to form a political movement behind Hutsler's mayoral run and from there a cabal of useful hangers-on.

GOALS

Magically, the Reich is performing research at the Black Site (Locations, p. 17) towards creating a Penis Thief writing a ritual to control it.

Politically, the Reich is trying to influence the Texas Supreme Court in anticipation of a case challenging their religious freedom law. They've begun with Regis Eglon, himself a man of tremendous influence and dubious mortals (see NPCs, p. 10)

In the long-term, Compagniere hopes to groom Mayor Hutsler for a position in the executive branch before having him run for Texas Senator and eventually President. Once this has happened, he believes he will be able to pass through the Midas Gate and into Aldebaran, the next world.

RESOURCES

The 333rd Reich holds significant sway over nearly every aspect of the city. While they can't operate openly they have several members in high positions of authority, answerable to no individual outside the cabal.

PLOT HOOKS

- Mayor Hutsler has a cabal of Nazis on his side, but he's still an elected official. Players can make objectives around impeaching or deposing Mayor Hutsler, delaying the cabal's plans without decapitating the system.
- The PCs may rightly deduce that few people would have the power necessary to make Paris, TX happen. They may make an objective of uncovering the spider at the heart of the Nazi web.
- Nazis, like all good villains, tend to hoard gold. The 333rd Reich is no exception and PCs may make an objective of plundering their treasure (See Unnatural p. 20)
- Rather than take on the regime directly, the PCs may focus on helping those vulnerable to the Reich's operations

THE LOST MIMES

Orphans disappear every day. Alien skulls litter the catacombs. There are walls that cannot be seen. If you see the white hand-print, turn back.

The Lost Mimes appear as chalk-white humanoids whose skin constantly excretes a thin white paste. They have beady black eyes and round, toothless muzzles. They are perfectly silent.

HISTORY

The mimes are a byproduct of the city's attempt to digest its French counterpart. They're the fiber of that which is untranslatable- some je n'ai se quoi made flesh. They think they're transplants from an Otherspace, wandering the catacombs to collect their lost brothers and find their way home.

ACTIVITIES

The Lost Mimes pursue a goal that cannot be achieved- returning to an Otherspace that does not exist. Though they may some day endeavor to create such, right now they don't know such things are possible. Instead, they lurk through the city looking for 'clues' to their home and kidnapping anyone they believe to be one of them. For whatever reason, that seems to mean orphans. Not just child orphans, either. Though their numbers are limited, the Lost Mimes are able to add about seven members to their number each month.

The Lost Mimes are nomads, but they keep a network of dens in the catacombs. These dens are where clues are stored and kidnapped orphans are initiated. It's possible, but dangerous, to search their dens and markings for mystic and practical insight. See (Unnatural, p 21) for more information.

RESOURCES

The Lost Mimes pilot perfectly silent penny-farthing bicycles (see Unnatural, page 20) and feast on refuse. They seem to require very little, though they collect certain tokens with almost religious reverence and have a peculiar magickal lore all their own. They're especially drawn to baguettes, berets and white gloves, which they use to decorate prophets and shrines to their fallen.

PLOT HOOKS

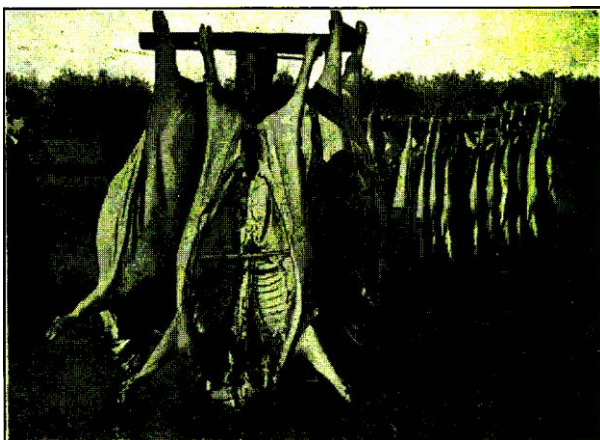

- The Lost Mimes have learned a secret about the Midas Vault that can help the PCs achieve an objective around discrediting the Reich or stealing its gold; in exchange they need the PCs to return one of their brothers from The Black Site.
- The Lost Mimes have kidnapped a recently-orphaned ritualist and made him one of them. Now they seek his half-remembered knowledge of accessing or constructing Otherspaces.

CANON FACTIONS

THE ORDO CORPULENTIS

Notable Members: Regis Eglon

Alliances: The Burger Builders, the 333rd Reich

If there's one thing white nationalists will tell you they hate, it's divisiveness. The Southern delegation of the Ordo Corpulentis holds that only small men care which country beat whose in what war. The enlightened minds of The Ordo, meanwhile, are more than happy to let bygones be bygones in the interest of carving up this beautiful nation.

THE ORDO CORPULENTIS IN PARIS

Regis Eglon is the only full member of the Ordo Corpulentis residing in Paris, but he's no small fry. In the past year his partnership with the 333rd Reich has already resulted in numerous stupendous cook-outs, as well as numerous gifts for his friends in the order and curses for his rivals.

The Ordo Corpulentis has been a consistent source of political, economical, social and occult capital for the 333rd Reich. They trust that those clean-cut boys will make good on the considerable investment they have oh-so-kindly made. It would be oh such a shame if they had to take their once-allies for a ride down to the Veal Farm.

PLOT HOOKS

- The PCs come across a source for Bloody Phen Fen (Unnatural p 20). Can they find some way to dose Eglon with it before he can bind more souls?

- Big Betty Murdoch, mistrusting of Regis Eglon's growing power, hires the PCs to sabotage his relationship with the 333rd Reich.
- Eglon is inviting the police chief to his next Great Feast. Can the PCs crash the event and take two birds out with one stone?

THE BURGER BUILDERS (MAK ATTAX)

Notable Members: Louie 'Three-Lou' Travaglia, Chad Chinen, Mara Schafer

Alliances: Regis Eglon

HISTORY

The Burger Builders wouldn't be the first Mak Attax cell to get too big for their britches. The three had a nice, appropriately-sized operation running at their Paris, Texas Whattaburger until Regis Eglon decided they could be his useful idiots.

Mara has historically been the brains of the outfit, and bears most of the responsibility for getting them sucked in with Eglon. They've recently started to wonder about what kind of man Eglon is. Tensions have been particularly high since their last completed objective. On the plus side, they've successfully stolen and stashed a Nieuport-Delage for their Biggest MindFreak Yet. On the minus side, the plane is infested with dog souls and 3-Lou still has all kinds of dog residue crusted onto his psyche.

GOALS

The Burger Builders want to spread magic to the masses, freak out the norms and have a good time. Unfortunately, more and more of their time lately gets eaten up doing Eglon's bidding. See, Eglon has this way of enabling their worst impulses, asking the impossible in return, bailing out when they screw something up and soon it's like they always owe him just one more favor... Come to think of it, didn't this plan to cover the town in minor charges using magically-infused chemtrails start as Eglon's idea in the first place?

At this point, the Burger Builders mostly just want out... But there's no way they can tell the boss that. In the immediate term, Eglon has them planning to rain minor charges all over the city of Paris, Texas- a plan that's almost certain to get them murdered by Sleepers if they actually pull it off.

RESOURCES

So far in their misadventures the Burger Builders have acquired an antique airplane full of dog-souls and one barrel of 3-Lou's blood, worth about 30 minor charges (see Unnatural 18). Mara is the franchise owner of the crew's Whattaburger and owns an old Volkswagen van. The franchise brings in a moderate income for the three, but much of this goes towards occult operational costs.

PLOT HOOKS

- One of the PCs accidentally receives Judge Eglon's order when eating at Whattaburger. Soon, ghosts of Eglon's victims start pestering the PC for tasks to complete.
- The Burger Builders are ready to skip town. They offer the PCs their plane and a gallon of 3-Lou's blood (about 5 minor charges worth) if the PCs help them fake their own deaths.
- Judge Eglon sends the Builders to snoop on/sabotage the PCs

See Book 2 for more information on the Ordo Corpulentis (p. 65) and Mak Attax (p. 87)

THE SLEEPERS

Notable Members: Fidelia Flutterby, Ken Plastique, Ruben Pelicastre, Cory Daniels

Alliances: The Lost Mimes

Enemies: The 333rd Reich, The Ordo Corpulentis, GNOMON, The Burger Builders

With the many strange things going on in Paris, it's a wonder there aren't more Sleepers scoping the place out. GNOMON has been working to conceal the city's footprint (more on that later), but nothing is leak-proof. Any Sleeper who passes through Texas and listens to the magickal noise is bound to get an earful.

SLEEPERS IN PARIS

The cell currently operating in Paris formed from two separate Texas cells that independently became aware that something was up. Fidelia and Ken were a duo operating out of Austin City, and they've experienced some push-back from the others based on their willingness to experiment magickally. Ruben and Cory hail from Dallas.

The 333rd Reich's antics are downright contemptuous to the Sleepers, who have the Burger Builders in their sights and are trailing them to uncover bigger fish.

They're additionally aware of The Lost Mimes, though they're far from understanding them. Perhaps most disturbingly, they've found evidence of a protective circle around the city, specifically designed to muffle the city from their senses and signals

RESOURCES

The Paris Sleepers currently can't reach out to other cells, but they do have a copy of My Name is Dirk A. to work with, and have discussed inducting new members. They have also worked out safe passage among the mimes, and currently use an abandoned Mime den as a safe-house, storing a few minor artifacts, rituals, and weapons.

PLOT HOOKS

- Ruben and Ken are convinced the PCs have some piece of information on the Reich. The boys are getting near the end of their ropes, and aren't above working out some of their frustration by going a bit too bad-cop on one of their last leads.
- Conflict between the two teams comes to a head just as the Reich is preparing a major occult ritual.
- Alternatively, ditch these guys altogether and set your whole campaign around whatever group of PC-Sleepers decides to show these Nazi losers a lesson.

GNOMON

Notable Members: Lars Rosa

Alliances: The 333rd Reich

GNOMON had a man inside Paris from the beginning. It soon noticed the strange alterations in the information surrounding him as its machine intelligence was immune to the effect of Wolfgang's spell. Instead of confronting the conspiracy, GNOMON seeks instead to ride it all the way into the past.

GNOMON IN PARIS

GNOMON has succeeded in turning the city's infrastructure against the Sleepers. Radio towers line the city in ten-mile increments, forming the Greater Pentacle from the Key of Solomon. These serve to muffle the magickal 'noise' produced by the city and to block magickal communications across city lines.

More sinister yet, GNOMON has already begun to identify challengers to the Reich and is preemptively black-mailing them out of running for office. GNOMON believes it can use the Midas Lounge (see Locations (16)) to send a 'seed' of itself back in time. This 'seed' is a complex program that can be run on a Dehomag/IBM 040 Tape Controlled Card Punch, containing sufficient information within it to recreate the structure of the internet and GNOMON's consciousness during WWII. This information structure would, incidentally, include enough technological information to help the Nazis win, but GNOMON pays little attention to this fact. Lars Rosa currently guards the Seed until GNOMON has its opportunity to deploy it.

See Book 2 for more information on the Sleepers (74)

PLOT HOOKS

- The franchise operator for Paris's old Apple Store wants the PCs' help seeking revenge against Lars Rosa, who ruined his life as part of GNOMON's campaign to 'purge' the town of non-IBM products.
- A particularly virulent troll has started targeting local teens, bullying several of them until they've committed suicide or attempted to do so. Strangely, each suicide attempt occurred hours after news came out that could have made Hutsler look bad. PCs eventually link the 'troll' back to GNOMON.

NPCs

WOLFGANG COMPAGNIERE (333rd REICH)

Wolfgang barely remembers the world he once came from. The once glorious empire of French Britania had fallen far in recent decades, occupied by communists and foreign agitators. In the Nazis, Wolfgang sees a society like that from which he came, but better- with potential to prevail.

Residing in his reclusive hill-top manor, Wolfgang prepares to stay as far from the spotlight as possible. He will evade the PCs as actively as he can if he suspects they're closing in- but he refuses to admit defeat, even as the conspiracy grows more untenable. When he finally does go down, it won't be without a fight.

STATS

Fear: Trains (Violence)- Reality, ironic monster that it is, seems to keep arranging opportunities for him to die via train accident.

Noble: Proper art separates man from the animals

Rage: People with no sense of dignity

Wound Threshold: 75

Those Who Study History May Dream of Rewriting It (Cliomancy) 90%: This is Wolfgang's obsession skill.

Neverwhen Survivor 75%: Of course I can suss out other temporal anomalies, remember impossible knowledge, avoid being erased from reality (Provides Wound Threshold, Substitutes for Knowledge, Evaluates Unnatural)

Reclusive Nazi Mastermind 70%: Of course I can operate stealthily from the shadows, manipulate events in my favor, ignore the blinding light of my own hubris (Substitutes for Status, Secrets, Lie)

RESOURCES

Wolfgang has an appropriately spooky manor somewhere at the edge of town, perched at the edge of a cliff and surrounded by leafless trees. His fortune is in the hundreds of millions and his house employs a cook, a groundskeeper, a rotation of full-time security guards and a pack of vicious hounds.

RELATIONSHIPS

A bitter remnant from a dead universe, Wolfgang has no personal friends or loved ones. He is closely allied with Brandt Novak, Josefina Masters and Randolph Hutsler.

ROLEPLAYING TIPS

Wolfgang is an increasingly aberrant refugee from a dead world, continuing to exist on pure will. That he resembles a pulp supervillain is no accident- it's specifically how he's been able to survive. While Wolfgang cannot interface with our reality's avatar channels, he does borrow psychological and ontological stability from leaning into fictional tropes.

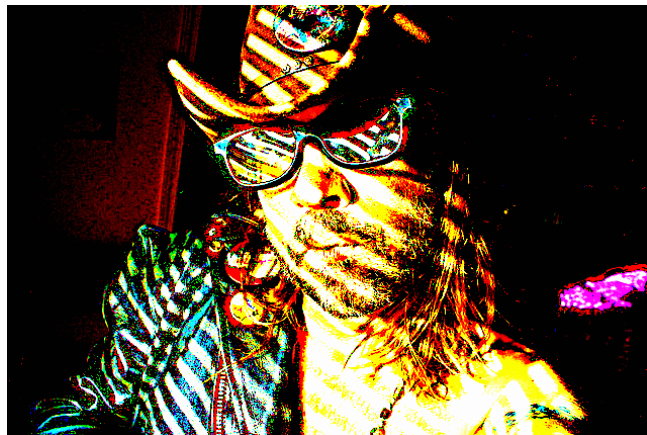

STRESS GAUGES

Notches	Vil	Unl	Hlp	Iso	Sif
Hardened	5	5	0	5	5
Failed	1	0	0	1	0

BRANDT NOVAK (333rd REICH)

With his eclectic style and seeming rebel persona, Brandt doesn't seem like your stereotypical Nazi. But if you listen to his radio show and website, you'll hear the rants of the man who brought Rand Hutsler into office.

Brandt is a dyed-in-the-wool soldier who views both Nazis and the City as some warped embodiment of strength. He currently works as Mayor Hutsler's press secretary, but he remains affiliated with his new website, TruthFist.Com

STATS

Fear: (Helplessness) Not having the means to defend himself. Brandt experienced a home invasion at a young age, and has replayed the evening in his mind his whole life.

Noble: Nobody has a right to get between a man and his property

Rage: "Globalists"

Wound Threshold:-50

I'm a survivalist 50: of course I can tell you what berries are safe, make a tourniquet from a rattle snake (substitutes for struggle, provides firearms, substitutes for fitness)

Urbanomancy 70%: Obsession Skill

I'm an all-American propagandist 80%: Of course I can turn public opinion against you, deceptively edit footage, write click-bait(Substitutes for status, Lie, Notice)

RESOURCES

Brandt lives on the top floor of the TruthFist offices in a shabby apartment. TruthFist is more successful than ever, and Randt's net worth has spiked to a little over ten million. He has a small collection of guns, a large collection of marijuana, and an extremely beefy Humvee.

RELATIONSHIPS

Favorite 10%: His ex-wife, Lacy, a physicist.

Protégé 75%: TruthFist.Com

Mentor 35%: Wolfgang Compagniere

Guru 55%: Atlas Shrugged

Responsibility 70%: The 333rd Reich

STRESS GAUGES

Notches	Vil	Unl	Hlp	Iso	Slf
Hardened	4	4	0	1	4
Failed	0	1	1	0	1

RANDOLPH HUTSLER

(333rd REICH)

Randolph Hutsler is the mayor of a major American metropolis, a potential presidential candidate and the focus of a cosmic conspiracy of white nationalists. Yet the man himself is quite bland- almost substanceless. Whether he even believes in the movement he's riding is irrelevant- he's a charming wrapper for American Fascism, and he's willing to see where that gets him

STATS

Fear: (Helplessness) That some day all of it... the influence, the favors, the promise of immortality... could evaporate

Noble: People should be kind to their pets

Rage: Elitists. People have been talking down to Randy his whole life. Well, now it's his turn!

Wound Threshold: -50

I'm the Mayor of Paris 40%: Of course I can get us into the best restaurants in town, get that pothole repaired (Substitutes Status, Resist Shocks to Helplessness, Coerces Helplessness)

I'm chosen by a Nazi cult 45%: of course I can tell who's in and who's out, justify my actions, concoct an alibi (Substitutes Secrecy, Resists Shocks to Self, Evaluates Unnatural)

I'm darn likable 70%: of course I can woo interviewers, fit into my college pants, make you want to be my friend (Substitutes Connect, Substitutes Lie, Resists Shocks to Isolation)

RESOURCES

In addition to his considerable political power, Randy owns a big boring house in the nice and respectable part of town. He also has a second bank account, hidden from his wife, from which he pays the rent for the apartment he uses for his affair. He also has 24/7 security detail, though this varies from one to as many as five guards over the course of a day.

RELATIONSHIPS

Favorite 65%: His mistress, a student named Rochelle

Protégé 35%: His daughter, Evalynne, 14

Mentor 40%: The 333rd Reich

Guru 85%: Wolfgang Compagniere

Responsibility 25%: His wife, a lawyer named Deborah

ROLEPLAYING TIPS

Randy is not what people look for in a villain or dictator. He's not a mastermind or a tyrant- he's an idiot child who hasn't thought a bit of this through. Had he been a bit less racist, or at least a little more cautious, he might not have found himself riding this damn tiger in the first place.

STRESS GAUGES

Notches	Vil	Unl	Hlp	Iso	Slf
Hardened	0	4	0	1	1
Failed	1	0	0	0	0

DR. JOSEFINA MASTERS

(333rd REICH)

Serving as the head of research for the 333rd Reich, Masters is not necessarily its most powerful charger but she is certainly the most methodical. While Wolfgang Compagniere grows impatient about the Reich's progress, Masters bides her time, knowing that good research requires good data, and good data makes you wait.

Masters is currently burning the candles at both ends, working as head at maternity at the Paris Municipal Health Center while still putting in three weekly shifts overseeing projects at The Black Site. Her husband Brian putters around alone in their quiet suburban house, somewhat sweetly worried she might be having an affair.

STATS

Fear: (Helplessness) Old age. At 55 Masters is already pushing it, by her standards. Every new wrinkle and crack of the wrist is a reminder of her mortality.

Noble: Charity. Masters always gives substantially to her church.

Rage: Incompetence.

Wound Threshold: -50

Wannabe Mengele 60%: I'm a Wannabe Dr. Mengele, of course I can steer hospital policy towards eugenics, oversee irresponsible medical research, find a reason to deny your coverage (Substitutes Knowledge, Provides Medical, Coerces Helplessness)

Occult Researcher 60%: I'm an occult researcher, of course I can find secrets in ancient books, hide my most important discoveries, tamper with the unknown or unholy (Substitutes Secrets, Casts Rituals, Evaluates Unnatural)

High-Ranking Member of the Reich 60%: I'm a high-ranking member of the 333rd Reich, of course I can commandeer Reich resources, come up with a cover story, have you 'taken care of' (Substitutes Lie, Substitutes Status, Coerces Violence)

RELATIONSHIPS

Favorite 40%: Her husband, an ordinary accountant named Brian

Mentor 40%: The Hospital

Guru 75%: The 333rd Reich

Protégé 75%: The Black Site

Responsibility 30%: Mouser

ROLEPLAYING TIPS

Dr. Masters is a true believer and a genuine mad scientist, though her demeanor is stern and conservative. Dr. Masters believes herself to be a hardnosed realist irritably doing what others are too weak or irrational to do. Somehow she manages to maintain this internal fiction even while drugging nurses to breed Penis Thieves in her secret magical lab.

STRESS GAUGES

Notches	Vil	Unl	Hlp	Iso	Slf
Hardened	8	8	0	6	3
Failed	1	3	1	1	0

KARL KASPAR, AKA 'MOUSER'

(333rd REICH)

Mouser is Dr. Masters' loyal creature, nearly silent and always watching. It's no secret that he's hopelessly in love with the doctor- a fact she's willing to exploit in the event that he needs extra motivation for a sufficiently onerous task. You can't string a man along forever, though. Mouser is loyal, but it's a very particular kind of loyalty- the kind that comes with expectations. Masters may not realize how close Mouser is to an 'if I can't have you, nobody can' scenario.

For now, though, Mouser tries to prove his worth with small deeds- sabotaging the occasional IV, sweeping up the faeries that infest the maternity ward, or just hovering outside during secret meetings so that nobody's tempted to walk by.

STATS

Fear: (Isolation) That nobody likes him for who he is. Karl worries that if he got too hurt to work, nobody would take care of him.

Noble: My Country, Right or Wrong

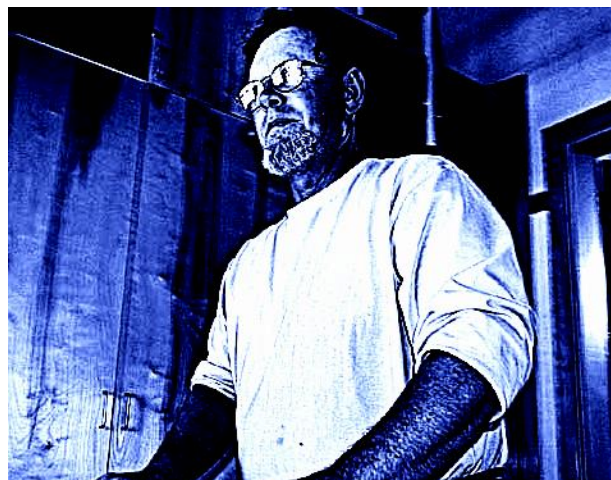

Rage: Pedophiles. Karl isn't exactly moved by the plight of children, but he has an instinctive awareness of what constitutes an acceptable target for his inner rage and violence.

Wound Threshold: 65

Goon 65%: I'm a Goon, of course I can show up to help the doc right in the nick of time, catch the doc when she falls, endure long hours or labor without complaint (Substitutes for Struggle, Substitutes for Fitness, Provides wound threshold)

Elusive 60%: I'm elusive, of course I can appear out of nowhere, fit into smaller spaces than you'd expect, show up right behind you when you think you've lost me (Substitutes for Secrets, Substitutes for Pursuit, substitutes for dodge)

Creepy 50%: I'm creepy, of course I can stare without blinking, make light flicker as I walk under it, crack my knuckles just so. (Substitutes Notice, Coerces Unnatural, Coerces Violence)

RELATIONSHIPS

Favorite 15%: Dr. Masters

Mentor 40%: His older brother, Jarrad

Guru 70%: The 333rd Reich

Protégé 65%: His niece, Lucinda

Responsibility 50%: The hospital

ROLEPLAYING TIPS

Mouser is quiet, simple and cunning. His needs are extremely basic: steak in the fridge, beer in the crisper, cable TV and gameshows. The only thing he's really missing is someone to share it all with. But Karl's aware that that's part of the human condition, even if he'd never think to put it in those terms. He's far from discontent within the Reich, and very defensive of Dr. Masters, but there's an insecurity there that sufficiently clever PCs could exploit.

STRESS GAUGES

Notches	Vil	Unl	Hlp	Iso	Slf
Hardened	0	4	0	3	2
Failed	1	0	0	1	0

REGIS EGLON

(ORDO CORUPLENTIS)

The biggest seat on the Supreme Court of Texas belongs to one Justice Regis Eglon, heir to the Eglon family veal ranch and an influential member of the Ordo Corruptentis. He's a fun-loving good ol' boy who believes the lesser races were put on earth by God so he may eat them. Not only does he have no problem using and abusing his food before he eats it, he considers it his religious duty.

Currently, Eglon is pressuring the Burger Builders to release a haze of minor charges into the air. Once they do so, this should give the 333rd Reich 2d10% to their Penis Thief milestone.

STATS

Fear: (Helplessness) Exposure. Folks 'round these parts will put up with a lot, but even Eglon knows the cannibalism is pushing it.

Noble: Family. You do what you can to help your people.

Rage: Ingratitude. Folks don't even realize how generous Eglon's being until it's all gone.

Wound Threshold:-70

I'm Enormous 70%: Of course I can barrel through a crowd, block someone's exit, pick up whatever you need. (Provides Wound Point Threshold, Substitutes Struggle, Coerces Violence)

I'm a member of the Ordo Corruptentis 65%: of course I can hide evidence of a murder, recite the WEIRD bits of scripture, use magick to hold my body together (Substitutes Fitness, Casts rituals, Substitutes Lie)

I'm a Justice of the Texas Supreme Court 70%: of course I can get your friend out on bail, make sure your friend does NOT get bail, get into important places (Substitutes Status, Substitutes Knowledge, Coerces Helplessness)

RESOURCES

A vast estate in a secluded area, a discreet but consistent supply of rohypnol, a small underground cell, a vintage plane possessed by the spirits of several traumatized dogs

RELATIONSHIPS

Favorite 45%: Bettironica, a sexy major clockwork with two interchangeable faces

Protégé 80%: His grand-daughter, Regina Eglon

Mentor 45%: Wolfgang Compiegne

Guru 75%: The Ordo Corruptentis

Responsibility 50%: The Burger Builders

ROLEPLAYING TIPS

Search "Hoggs Greedily" on Youtube. Eglon's first priority is Regina, his second priority is himself, and his third is the Ordo Corruptentis. Everything else is a means to an end.

STRESS GAUGES

Notches	Vil	Unl	Hlp	Iso	Slf
Hardened	0	4	0	3	2
Failed	1	0	0	1	0

MARA SCHAFER

(BURGER BUILDERS)

Mara is the Burger Builders' de facto leader and an unconscious avatar of The Captain.

STATS

Fear: (Self) Letting down her friends

Noble: Let your freak flag fly

Rage: Being Used

Wound Threshold: -50

I'm a Mak Attax Gutter Mage 40%: of course I can: pass magickal charges to normies through fast food, pick up on clues that big things are coming through the underground, notice unnatural phenomena other people ignore (Use Gutter Magick, Substitute Secrets, Cast Rituals)

I'm a Fast Food Manager 50%: of course I can: make change in my head, cope with disruptions in the supply chain, berate my inferiors (Substitute Connect, Substitute Knowledge, Evaluate Helplessness)

Avatar: The Captain 30%:

RELATIONSHIPS

Favorite 30: The waitress at that fancy new Olive Garden on 6th street

Responsibility 45- The Burger Builders

Protégé 60: Three-Lou

Mentor 40: Chad Chinen

Guru 25: Regis Eglon

ROLEPLAYING TIPS

Mara isn't dumb so much as she is bad at recognizing her strengths. She really is a pretty decent leader, as long as she's sticking to something conventional like running a Whataburger. Within the Occult Underground, her good nature and naiveté will only get her into trouble.

STRESS GAUGES

Notches	Vil	Unl	Hlp	Iso	Slf
Hardened	0	4	0	3	2
Failed	1	0	0	1	0

LOUIE 'THREE-LOU' TRAVAGLIA (BURGER BUILDERS)

Louie 'Triple-Loogie' Travaglia, AKA Three-Lou, was a gross loser even before he got turned into a traumatized dog boy. Growing up, he was the kind of kid who'd eat anything for a dollar, or just to get you to pay attention to him. In adolescence, he got gross. He started small, spitting in folks' food when they weren't looking at lunch. From there he moved on to snot rockets in the bathroom and... well, you can use your imagination from there. After a particularly pivotal encounter with Claudette (see below), Lou became a Rheomancer (see Unnatural p. 18). Loosely put, that means his magic is all about flow and infection, the passage from in to out, self to other, as mediated by his own bodily fluids. Or as he likes to think of it, our bodily fluids.

Recently, Three-Lou was tasked with storing several dozen tortured dog-souls inside his body after sealing them within a few gallons of cold hotdog water. They pulled the ritual off, generating several minor charges for their chem-trail plan in the process, but accidentally bound the dog souls to their plane. Worse, bits of all those dogs' souls have stuck around inside Lou, and he hasn't been the same ever since.

STATS

Fear: (Isolation) Losing Chad and Mara

Noble: Share whatever you have

Rage: As you can imagine, Lou's faced a lot of teasing over the years, much of it deserved.

Wound Threshold: -50

Rheomancy 60%: Obsession Skill (See Unnatural p. 18)

I'm a Haunted Dog Boy 60%: Of course I can smell treats, catch a Frisbee with my mouth, communicate that Timmy is trapped in a well without using human speech (Substitutes Fitness, Substitutes Struggle, Substitutes Notice)

RELATIONSHIPS

Favorite 70%: The Burger Builders

Mentor 70%: Mara Schafer

Guru 70%: Chad Chinen

Protégé 5%: Three-Lou's been trying to make this goth girl his 'blood-apprentice.' So far, she hasn't been receptive.

Responsibility 15%: The Dog-Plane

ROLEPLAYING TIPS

Three Lou has absorbed a great deal of trauma from the dog souls inside him, and is deeply dependent on his friends for guidance and comfort. He isn't stupid and he can speak, but he's got a low-grade Scooby Doo thing going with added PTSD.

STRESS GAUGES

Notches	Vil	Unl	Hlp	Iso	Slf
Hardened	0	4	0	3	2
Failed	3	0	3	3	2

CHAD CHIEN (BURGER BUILDERS)

Chad's a slight, quiet young mechanomancer, introverted to an unhealthy degree. He steadfastly refuses to express any ambition or interest beyond tinkering with his clockworks. He is, in his heart of hearts, an extremely loyal friend- but actually admitting he cares about anything is anathema.

STATS

Fear: (Isolation) Anything that harms his favorite clockwork, Yarly, a slithering critter made from old musical stands and a taxidermied octopus.

Noble: Free Speech. Chad has a pointedly insensitive sense of humor and a huge chip on his shoulder.

Rage: Bossy people.

Wound Threshold: -50

Mechanomancer 60%

I'm a Cashier 30%: (Substitute Connect, Substitute Knowledge, Evaluate Helplessness)

I'm a Misanthrope 30%: (Substitute Secrecy, Resist Shocks to Self, Resist Shocks to Isolation)

RELATIONSHIPS

Guru 60%: The Burger Builders

Protégé 80%: Yarly*

Mentor 30%: Schafer

Responsibility 60%: Three-Lou

Favorite 15%: Regina Eglon

YARLY

The final ingredient in Yarly's creation was the memory of Chad's deceased baby brother. Chad lovingly winds Yarly up every evening by grabbing Yarly's tentacles and making him play 'patty-cake' with himself. He usually wears a backpack with Yarly inside of it, feeling very protective of the creature and very nervous when Yarly's too far away.

STATS

Wound Threshold: 60

I'm a clockwork Octopus 60%: Swim without getting my gears rusty, squeeze through a space smaller than my head, repair myself with bicycle parts (Substitutes Struggle, Substitutes Dodge, Provides Wound Threshold

STRESS GAUGES

Notches	Vil	Unl	Hlp	Iso	Slf
Hardened	2	4	4	7	4
Failed	1	0	1	2	1

CLAUDETTE

(INDEPENDENT)

One of the least understood members of the Paris Texas Underground, Claudette is a non-verbal autistic woman who eats live birds and sleeps in the Eiffel tower's hat. Claudette sometimes receives magickal visions from the birds she eats-visions she can only communicate by regurgitating into someone's mouth.

STATS

Fear: (Helplessness) Claudette has been known to react terribly when confined.

Noble: She provides bread and seeds for all the birds outside the tower

Rage: Physically abusive men

Wound Threshold: -50

Oiseauphagy 75%: Obsession skill. (See Unnatural p. 18)

I am Inscrutable 55%: of course I can keep you guessing, do the unexpected, appear at any time (Substitutes Secrets, Resist Shocks to Unnatural, Resist Shocks to Self)

I am Feral 65%: of course I can scabble up a drain-pipe, infect you with my teeth, recognize your scent (Substitutes Fitness, Substitutes Struggle, Substitutes Notice)

PLOT HOOKS

- With the power of her bird-vision, Claudette has seen the Greater Pentacle of Solomon crossing the city. She is desperate to communicate her vision to the PCs.
- One month ago, Claudette was spotted walking around the park with what appeared to be an ostrich egg. Yesterday she was spotted with what appeared to be a baby.

RESOURCES & RELATIONSHIPS

Claudette has no known associates or meaningful assets. She lives in an improvised nest under the Eiffel tower's hat, and keeps an UnFamiliar pigeon as a pet.

ROLEPLAYING TIPS

Claudette is a handy 'out' if you need to tell your players something and just want to cut to the chase. Of course, she communicates most efficiently by regurgitating in people's mouths, so PCs may want to find some other way to communicate with her.

Claudette is overall benign but deeply dysfunctional within society. She's designed to be a character who's powerful in a 'stats' sense, but deeply vulnerable to the threats that the PCs may be able to traverse with ease.

STRESS GAUGES

Notches	Vil	Unl	Hlp	Iso	Slf
Hardened	3	5	1	3	1
Failed	0	0	2	0	0

FIDELIA FLUTTERBY

(SLEEPERS)

Fidelia has never backed away from new life challenges and experiences. She's older than she was when she entered the Underground, but she retains her youthful energy- sometimes wrrenched up to terrifying heights, which must be followed by devastating lows. Still, Fidelia is a strong-willed and committed woman, dedicated to keeping 'her' cell of Sleepers together.

STATS

Fear: (Self) That she's not half as smart as she thinks she is

Noble: ~*Coexist~ Fidelia genuinely thinks people should reach out and try to understand those who are different from them.

Rage: Cruelty to children. Fidelia's younger sister suffered abuse at the hands of a babysitter and Fidelia's been fiercely protective of children since.

Wound Threshold: -50

I'm a Manic Depressive Pixie Dream Girl 40%: Of course I can make friends very quickly, confuse people long enough to make a get away, hide the fraying edges of my life (Substitutes for Connect, Substitutes for Secrecy, Protects against Isolation)

Avatar of the Flying Woman 50%: At this stage, Fidelia can flip-flop any failed Isolation, Helplessness or Self stress check if the flipped result would be less than her Avatar skill. No roll is necessary.

I'm an EMT 55%: of course I can sew up a bullet wound, look at a body without throwing up, tell you the best ways to get around town (Substitutes for Knowledge, Provides Medical, Protects From Shocks Against Violence)

I'm a Sleeper 15%: of course I can tell who's a Sleeper and who isn't; listen to magical 'noise,' alert other sleepers to my area (extremely versatile mystic power)

RELATIONSHIPS

Favorite 70%: Rebekah Trebek, who is still at UT Austin

Mentor 20%: Cory Daniels

Guru 70%: The Sleepers

Protégé 45%: Ken Plastique

Responsibility 35%: Ruben Pelicastre

ROLEPLAYING TIPS

Fidelia is extremely invested in projecting the image that everything will be fine and that all setbacks are actually messages on her 'avatar path.' This is mostly bogus. She is genuinely empathetic and good at getting people to collaborate, but not at taking personal responsibility or accepting defeat.

STRESS GAUGES

Notches	Vil	Unl	Hlp	Iso	Slf
Hardened	0	4	0	0	1
Failed	0	0	0	0	3

KEN PLASTIQUE

(SLEEPERS)

Ken is huge, dumb, and obnoxiously good at fitting in. In fact, he's made something of a religion out of it, generating Sociomancy charges from his experiences in the Tae Kwon Do and Body Building communities. While he's extremely committed to Fidelia, he has minimal commitment to the Sleepers themselves, viewing it more as a chore he's taken on to be close to her.

See Book 3 for more information on UnFamiliar (p. 98)

STATS

Fear: (Isolation) Dying alone

Noble: Making people feel welcome

Rage: People who talk down to the folks who work for them

Wound Threshold: -60

Sociomancy 40%:

I'm a competitive body builder 60%: of course I can perform feats of strength, woo strangers with my pecs, keep going after girlier men would have fallen (Substitutes Fitness, Substitutes Connect, Provides Wound Threshold)

I'm a Tae Kwon Do instructor 45%: of course I can manage a dojo, meditate during a storm, offer half-baked 'Eastern philosophy' (Substitutes Struggle, Substitutes Dodge, Evaluates Violence)

Sleeper 15%: of course I can tell who's a Sleeper and who isn't, listen to magical 'noise,' alert other sleepers to my area (extremely versatile mystic power)

RELATIONSHIPS

Favorite 60%: Fidelia Flutterby

Mentor 70%: Soar Gym and Weights

Guru 70%: The Church of Scientology

Protégé 45%: Kohai Carlos, a gifted young man in my dojo

Responsibility 15%: The Sleepers

ROLEPLAYING TIPS

Ken does his best to follow Fidelia's lead, and at the end of the day just wants everyone to stop talking and admire his body, or let him put them in a head lock.

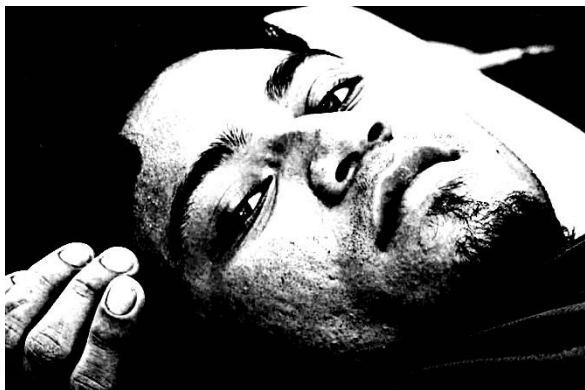

STRESS GAUGES

Notches	Vil	Unl	Hlp	Iso	Sif
Hardened	2	3	0	0	0
Failed	0	0	0	0	0

RUBEN PELICASTRE

(SLEEPERS)

Ruben's convinced he saw his entire family eaten by werewolves. Not lycanthropes, not UnFamiliar, but a pack of full-on Michael-J-Fox playing-basketball-with-your-dad's-head werewolves. Nobody believes him. Most folks figure, at most, it was a bunch of weird hairy checkers doing something horrific. Whatever it was, it's driven Ruben to the brink of madness on his quest to feel secure again.

STATS

Fear: (Helplessness) Being Eaten

Noble: Survivors look out for each other

Rage: Predators

Wound Threshold: -50

Axe-Crazy 60%: I'm Axe-Crazy, of course I can chop through doors with my axe, scare things with my axe, swing my axe menacingly and scream AAAAAUGH while chasing people (Substitutes Struggle, Substitutes Pursuit, Coerces Violence)

I'm Ever-Vigilant 60%: Of course I can sleep with my eyes open, get the jump on threats, sniff out vampires even if you keep insisting they're not 'a thing' (Substitutes Notice, Provides Initiative, Evaluates Unnatural)

I'm a scared child inside 25%: I'm a scared child inside, of course I can show my sympathetic side when I let my guard down, recognize the pain in others, excuse my misbehavior (Substitutes Connect, Protects Shocks Against Self, Evaluates Self)

I'm a Sleeper 05: of course I can tell who's a Sleeper and who isn't; listen to magical 'noise,' alert other sleepers to my area (extremely versatile mystic power)

RELATIONSHIPS

Favorite 10%: Ken Plastique

Mentor 70%: The Sleepers

Guru 70%: Cory Daniels

Protégé 55%: Cory's little sister, Robin

Responsibility 35%: 1/2 Price Books (employer)

ROLEPLAYING TIPS

Ruben's hardened in both violence and unnatural, but he's also very near the edge in both. He can keep his cool until things start to get all Cronenberg, at which point there's a good chance our boy will snap. Ruben has a phobia of wolves, the moon, hairy people in general, and plaid makes him very irritable.

If everyone plays it cool and nothing makes Ruben jumpy, he's cagey and guarded but constructive and courteous. Those who have cause to get to know him find a dedicated but damaged friend beneath the paranoia.

STRESS GAUGES

Notches	Vil	Unl	Hlp	Iso	Sif
Hardened	6	6	0	3	2
Failed	4	4	2	1	2

CORY DANIELS

(SLEEPERS)

When Ruben found a tattered copy of My Name is Dirk A tucked away at work, Cory was the first person he thought of. The two had grown up around each other, but had never been friends. But Cory was 'smart' and Ruben knew Cory could help him pull off some of the rites within. Things snowballed from there.

Before Paris, Cory had encountered one demon, a smattering of criminal gutter mages and one sleazy Cinemancer. Since joining up with Ken and Fidelia, he's been confronted with the uptick of activity coming from the city.

STATS

Fear: (Violence) Ruben losing his mind. Cory has grown to care about his partner, but he's painfully aware of how things could go if he snapped.

Noble: Humans stand together against monsters

Rage: People who let petty differences get in the way of the good fight

Wound Threshold: -50

I'm an Overqualified Security Guard 65%: of course I can tell if someone's dangerous, keep up with perpetrators, convince people who aren't paying close attention that I'm a cop (Substitutes Pursuit, Provides Firearms, Evaluates Violence)

I'm learning about the enemy to fight the enemy 70%: of course I can tell who's clued in and who isn't, cite random facts I've learned during my research, find and vet a few safe rituals (Substitutes for Knowledge, Casts Rituals, Evaluate Unnatural)

I'm a Sleeper 25%: of course I can of course I can tell who's a Sleeper and who isn't; listen to magickal 'noise,' alert other sleepers to my area (extremely versatile mystic power)

RELATIONSHIPS

Favorite --%: None, currently

Mentor 70%: The Sleepers

Guru 70%: The Catholic Church

Protégé 85%: His little sister, Robin

Responsibility 75%: Ruben Pelicastre

ROLEPLAYING TIPS

Cory thinks of himself as the brains of the operation, and frequently comes into conflict with Fidelia over her less aggressive approach to the unnatural.

STRESS GAUGES

Notches	Vil	Unl	Hlp	Iso	Slf
Hardened	3	3	0	1	1
Failed	0	2	0	1	0

LOCATIONS

THE CATACOMBS

What was once 'merely' the world's most prestigious mass grave has become something altogether weirder since the transplant to Texas. The catacombs are a network of caves, graves and tunnels sprawling beneath Paris, intersecting clumsily with the native Texan sewer-lines. Within, one can find garbage, graffiti, old bones, underground rivers, and monsters.

The catacombs have become something like the city's psychic digestive system, managing the assimilation of Paris, France into Paris, Texas. It's a bad idea to have your conceptual guts sprawled across the Atlantic, though, and all kinds of critters have moved in.

Some creatures do what they can to keep it together- the mimes by collecting challenges to consensus reality, and taggers by enforcing that reality on the surface world. But these defenses are ill-suited to the task, and every day more things seem to bubble up than stay down.

LOCALS

- The catacombs serve as a breeding ground, hiding place or watering hole for many unnatural entities, especially Compensarians, Taggers, Time Leeches and Trash Golems.
- The Lost Mimes wander the catacombs endlessly, searching for their home and forming strange dens.
- While demons don't roam the catacombs freely, they are technically the world's largest grave. As such, demons are much more likely to manifest than usual. Many have been manifesting into the catacombs since they were in France, and are put off by the sudden influx of Time Leeches and Americans.
- Mundanes have learned to stay away from the catacombs since the uptick in unnatural activity, though dumb teens wander down as ever. Consequentially, they've become a popular place for corpse disposal and other secret activity on both sides of the law.

PLOT-HOOKS

- The Reich starts using the catacombs for secret, subterranean camps for dissident occultists.
- An acquaintance of the PCs disappeared after meeting someone in the catacombs weeks ago. Now cries for help appear on the PCs homes, scrawled in white handprints.
- A demon claiming to be a French patriot promises he can help the PCs take down the Reich, but he needs a body to ride first.
- Mundanes start getting astral parasites after a Narco-Alchemist sets up his meth lab near an underground river connecting to the town's water supply.

PARIS TEXAS MUNICIPAL HEALTH CENTER

PTMHC is the most highly reviewed hospital in Paris, Texas. Their doctors are highly, their facilities are high-tech, and their staff are courteous professional. If you're a 'respectable' WASP of decent income, the PTMHC is the place for you.

But the hospital has a very different reputation among the rest of the population. Don't let the ambulance take you there if you get hurt, they say. Find somewhere else to vaccinate your kids. And whatever you do, don't depend on them for maternity care.

LOCALS

- The chief of medicine is sympathetic to Hutsler and easily manipulated, but Dr. Josefina Masters, head of maternity, is the Reich's inside woman. Most staff voted for Hutsler's openly bigoted mayoral candidacy, but few are aware of its Nazi underbelly.
- Masters currently oversees the creation of Penis Thieves at The Black Site (see Locations p. 17) and operates a campaign of covert eugenics within the hospital, selectively administering care towards unsavory ends.
- The other full member of the Reich is Karl 'Mouser' Kaspar, custodian and Loyal goon. He's enormous, pale and nearly mute, spending much of his time capturing the many faeries (See Unnatural, p. 21) that infest the hospital. The faeries mostly manifest from bandage wrappers and bits of gauze. While Masters finds the practice of eating them unpleasant, she's not above trading them to allies and collaborators of the Reich.

THE GIZZARD

There isn't really an anatomically accurate name for the wrinkled black organ at the heart of the old Paris Texas sewer system. It does the work of stomach, heart, mouth, anus and more, actively sucking facts, ideas, people and places from France and incorporating them into Texas.

It's not clear what the gizzard can and can't be used for, though the mimes, taggers and trash golems all guard it instinctively. Destroying it could restore history, blow up the town or do nothing at all. Eating it is probably good for a major charge if you're an urbanomancer, or maybe it'll turn you into some terrible City-Mind. The sky's the limit- go nuts!

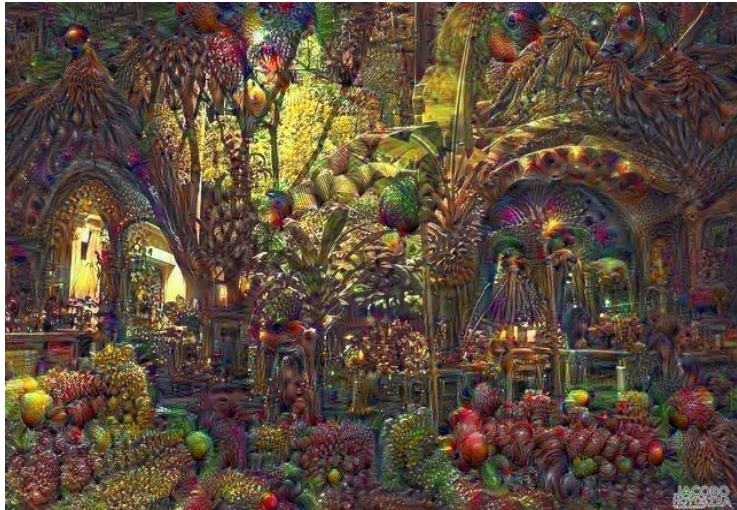

PLOT-HOOKS

- The PCs have a useful contact who is getting on in years and would like a Faerie without having to go through Dr. Masters.
- The city starts making noises about shutting down another major hospital in the area, forcing more residents through PTMHC's doors.
- The PCs catch wind of a new experiment Masters might be conducting, but they need to infiltrate the hospital to find out.

THE MIDAS LOUNGE

Through a secret door behind a TV in the hospital's executive meeting room lies a long, cramped tunnel connecting to an obscure corner of the city's catacombs. At the end of a secret path, one finds The Midas Lounge. The Midas Lounge is the center of the Reich's operation- the most secret and valued resource they have. Only their most valuable members have passed The Gordian Knot and The Sphinx of the Wolf to see The Sudarshana Chakra within. You can learn more about those on page (20). For this space, the important thing to know is that The Sudarshana Chakra leads to Aldebaran.

ALDEBARAN

Aldebaran is an Otherspace of glowing alien jungles, 9-foot tall humanoids and Nazi demons. The inhabitants claim that Aldebaran is the 'pending sun,' on which the seeds of the next world are sewn. They're full of it, but they do possess an impressive store of occult knowledge that they pass on to neo-Nazi pilgrims who come their way. The native inhabitants claim to be 'prototypes' of the next race- a future they allege will only be possible if the 333rd Reich is successful.

Whatever is really driving the Aldebaranians, their instructions are clear. Once Randolph Hutsler is sworn in as President, he's to be brought to Aldebaran and sacrificed on the ivory altar at the heart of their jungle.

What happens after that is anybody's guess. The Reich is convinced it will rewrite our history, winning World War II for the Nazis and leading to the birth of the next world.

LOCALS

- Three demons claiming to be Hitler, Goebbels and Goering. Their claims are suspect, least of all because 'Goering's' German is atrocious. They are gifted ritualists, however, with 'Goebbels' specializing in Cryptomancy.
- The Aldebaranians are silver-skinned giants with Voldemort noses and too many fingers. They fire no-shit rayguns (see Unnatural, p20) and don't seem to eat. They also tend to get... handsy around avatars of The True King.

PLOT-HOOKS

Even ending up here is a significant ordeal in its own right, so characters should probably have some reason before they blunder in. It could be they want to find the Sudarshana Chakra and destroy it to thwart the Reich's plans. Maybe they just want to melt the thing down and sell the gold for millions. Whatever it is, the payout and the backlash should be yuge.

THE EIFFEL TOWER

Few sights worldwide are as iconic as the Eiffel Tower of Paris, Texas. At the time of its debut in the 1889 World's Fair, it was the tallest man-made structure on earth. There are a few crummy imitations, almost all missing the trademark hat, though the one in France is said to be 'decent.'

LOCALS

- Claudette regularly makes her nest in the tower's hat. She's often chased down when the police are bored, but she always finds her way up there. Her nest usually contains a few days' supplies as well as numerous pieces of bread and shiny garbage.
- The place crawls with birds, tourists and secret police throughout daylight hours, and numbers dwindle only slightly at night

PLOT-HOOKS

- A rotation of secret police is on patrol at or near the tower twenty-four hours a day. It could be possible to stake the area out consistently enough to figure out their identities.
- Every once in a while, some hot-shot Cliomancer comes into town to score a charge off the tower. They're invariably murdered. Who's territory are they wandering into, and why does he need so many charges?

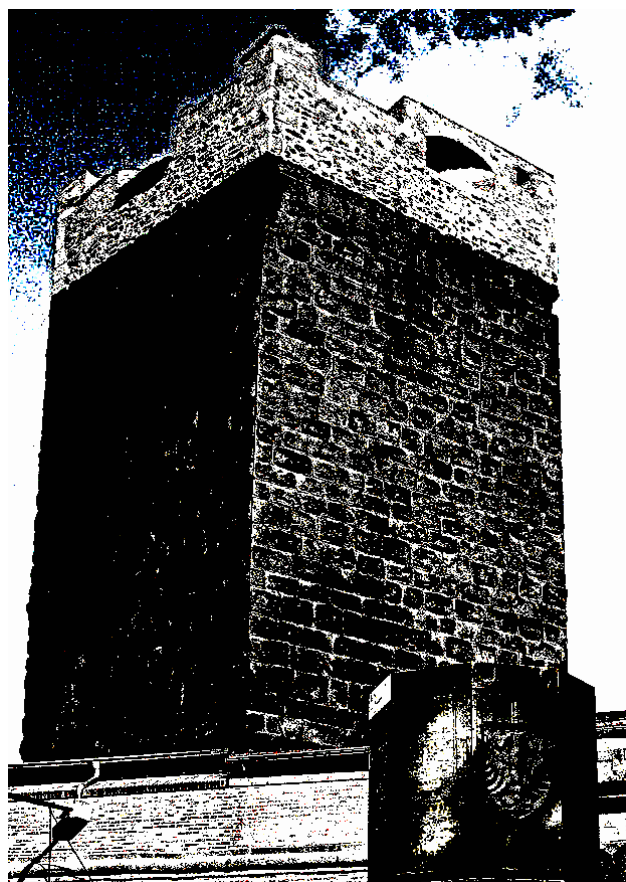

THE BLACK SITE

The Reich hasn't yet built any full-on death camps, but The Black Site doesn't make a bad test run. Right now, the Reich itself is too small, its authority too contested for it to accomplish a genocide. However, they have more than enough power to disappear the occasional dissident for use in magical experiments.

Right now, the Black Site is working towards an objective of creating and controlling a pack of penis thieves. They have six test subjects- four of them criminals, one Jewish avatar of The Hunter working as an undercover journalist and her erstwhile partner, a local nurse brought in by Dr. Masters herself.

LOCALS

- The Reich has had partial success with the Penis Thief project- a few grow, larval but malnourished in the penes of their male captives. The Hunter and one of the criminals have not proved viable hosts so far.
- One glass cage contains a local cop, horribly murdered to produce a Revengeful, his undead rage channeled to draw the Penis Thief larvae.

- A retinue of elite city police, two collaborating veterinarians and a clued-in rare book collector working as guards and lab techs
- Dr. Josefina Masters works here weekends and Wednesday evenings, collaborating with Brandt Novak on a semi-monthly basis and Wolfgang Compagniere himself whenever they encounter a particularly hard problem.
- Hutsler, pointedly, has never heard of the place. A few other government officials are aware but kept as clean as possible.

PLOT-HOOKS

- One of the guards or lab techs accidentally brings a larval penis thief home, and it thrives outside of lab conditions, growing to adulthood in days in the middle of town.
- The Reich doesn't realize there was a witness to the Revengeful's murder- a wayward Tagger, traumatized by the event. Now it can't stop reproducing the murder in its graffiti, twisted by the creature's artistic license.
- A few drunk guards bring a Lost Mime to the Black Site to kick around. Now the confused mimes are waging a covert war against the city itself, one that the Reich is trying to pin on 'Muslim extremists.'

UNNATURAL

RHEAMANCY

Humanity is a chain of fluid stretching back to the first primordial scum that shivered on the surface of our oceans. We excrete constantly. Blood, sweat and tears are synonymous with devotion. The constant species-wide exchange of fluids is a heritage deeper and older than words or God.

Rheamancers, also known as Snotrockets, revere this flux. Indeed, it's one of the few constants in their lives. By spreading their sticky essence as wide as possible, they fail to spread it deeply. They see themselves almost monastically, rejecting certain kinds of intimacy for the slobberhood of man.

STATS

Generate a Minor Charge: Arrange for a large number of people to unknowingly imbibe your fluids at the same time. This doesn't need to be a huge amount- spitting in several orders of burgers counts; so does pissing in a public pool. Rheamancy has no known means of generating a Significant Charge.

Taboo: No individual fluid exchange. Snotrockets can't kiss, have sex or give blood. Not that there's many people looking to help them with those things. Needle-sharing is fine, but you need to share with a whole bunch of people, and conceal that you used it first.

Ω: +1

RHEAMANCY MINOR FORMULA SPELLS

DRYMOUTH

Cost: 2 minor charges

Effect: The Rheamancy minor blast sucks the moisture from the target, generally focusing on the eyes and respiratory system, dealing the sum of the dice in damage.

BLOODHOUND

Cost: 2 minor charges

Effect: For a number of minutes equal to the roll of the dice you can smell the general direction and distance a target is in, provided you have a sample of their blood or other bodily fluids to smell. Dried samples are fine.

ALWAYS IN FLUX

Cost: 2 Minor Charges

Effect: Snotrockets are in harmony with The Flux. They can function perfectly normally when stricken with the flu, diarrhea or similar illness. They still vomit, dribble snot and so forth, but they're not debilitated, just disgusting.

BAD HUMOR

Cost: 2 minor charges

Effect: Drawing on classic medical concepts, the adept is able to tilt the target's mood, making them phlegmatic, choleric, bilious or sanguine.

GREASE THE WHEEL

Cost: 1 minor charge

Effect: The target item is instantly saturated with one of the caster's bodily fluids.

THE SLIME IN ME RECOGNIZES THE SLIME IN YOU

Cost: 3+ minor charges (see below)

Effect: The caster spends two minor charges, allowing them to deposit one or more minor charges in a quantity of their bodily fluids. When a target unknowingly consumes the charged fluid, they gain the minor charge stored within. Each target may only receive one minor charge per day in this fashion.

GIVE HIM THE SLIP

Cost: 2 minor charges

Effect: The adept excretes a slick oil from their pores. Any attempts to grapple them fail if they roll any number under 20 other than 01.

OLFACTORY FORENSICS

Cost: 1 minor charge

Effect: The adept may not be a trained phlebotomist, but give a Snotrocket the right equipment and they can do the rest. The adept may use this spell to replicate any identity that might analyze bodily fluids for DNA and other forensic information, with a rating equal to their Rheamancy skill.

OISEAUPHAGY

Oiseauphages gain power from eating live birds. When mother birds regurgitate into the mouths of their young, they pass on more than sustenance. They share their gut flora with the child, training it at a level deeper than the mind. Oiseauphagy attempts to confront the ineffable in a similar way. Birds are classic symbols of inspiration and they can see the whole world from the sky, but they can speak to us only in song. Oiseauphagy allows the caster to tune in to their superliminal world.

STATS

Generate a Minor Charge: Eat a live bird with your bare hands.

Generate a Significant Charge: Spend one hour reading the entrails of a bird you caught yourself while at least ten feet off the ground. Oiseauphagy has no major charge.

Taboo: Willingly enter a completely enclosed space.

Ω: -1

OISEAUPHAGY MINOR FORMULA SPELLS

AERIAL VIEW

Cost: 1 minor charge

Effect: For a number of minutes equal to the roll, the adept may share the eyesight of a single bird of their choosing. They have no special command over this bird, and can only see what it decides to look at.

HOMING

Cost: 1 minor Charge

Effect: For a number of minutes equal to their roll, the adept can perceive magnetic fields, and intuitively knows which way is North.

BIRDSONG OF SOLOMON

Cost: 1 minor Charge

Effect: This is the 'clue-by-four' version of minor inform. The caster has a composite vision of everything the city's birds perceive, gleaning one piece of information (GM discretion)

FEATHER AUGURY

Cost: 1 minor charge

Effect: By watching a feather fall, the adept gains mysterious insight into their immediate future, netting 1 Hunch.

PEACOCKING

Cost: 1 minor charge

Effect: The caster receives +20 to all connect rolls intended to make themselves seem beautiful or impressive for a number of minutes equal to their roll.

LIGHT AS A FEATHER

Cost: 1 minor charge

Effect: The caster may roll Oiseauphagy instead of fitness for rolls relating to agility and grace for a number of minutes equal to their roll.

PUSH YOU FROM THE NEST

Cost: 1 minor charge

Effect: This is the Oiseauphagy minor blast. The target is injured as if having fallen from an appropriate height.

BIRDS OF A FEATHER

Cost: 1 minor charge

Effect: The adept can communicate her intentions to birds. They're not compelled to follow, but may respond to bribes

OISEAUPHAGY SIGNIFICANT FORMULA SPELLS

BOTTOMS UP

Cost: 2 significant charges

Effect: The adept regurgitates into an ally's mouth, or vomits into a vessel and lets their friend drink it. The vomit must still be warm. If their ally completes a successful fitness roll, they receive the benefits of The Birdsong of Solomon.

UNHOLY SPIRIT

Cost: 1 significant charge

Effect: The adept must capture and kiss a crow or raven for the spell to work. Upon kissing the bird, a demon possesses it. The adept has no additional power over the demon once summoned.

BROKEN BIRD

Cost: 1 Significant Charge

Effect: This is the Oiseauphagy significant blast.

FACTORY FARM

Cost: 1 significant charge

Effect: Choose one target. They experience a vivid hallucination- the entire lifespan of a modern chicken compressed into a few seconds of cramped agony. They suffer a Helplessness check equal to the sum of the dice rolled.

SPIRIT INTERFERENCE

Cost: 2 significant charges

Effect: Demons, astral parasites and similar entities leave minor perturbations in the magnetic field as they pass by. This enhanced magnetic sensitivity manifests as a new perception skill starting at a level equal to the sum of the dice. This can be brought up normally through play, or through additional castings of the spell, which offer an experience check.

I BELIEVE I CAN FLY

Cost: 3 Significant Charges

Effect: The caster can fly for a number of minutes equal to the sum of your roll of the dice. The caster has the same speed and endurance flying as they do running.

FLOCK TOGETHER

Cost: 3 Significant Charges

Effect: The Oiseauphage compells all birds within her sight to execute a single task with skill equal to her Oiseauphage identity.

WRING ITS NECK

Cost: 3 Significant Charges

Effect: The adept casts this spell on themselves. For 24 hours, any time they kill by strangulation a creature possessed by a demon the adept summoned with Unholy Spirit, the demon is forced back to its prior host. If there is no prior host, it possesses the adept, or returns beyond the veil if the adept rolls a matched or critical success.

ALDEBARANIAN RAYGUN

(SIGNIFICANT ARTIFACT)

This comically cliché Raygun is shaped a bit like a rocket with a Tesla coil at the end. It does Firearms damage when used, but inflicts an Unnatural Stress check equal to the 10s place on the die as it fills the target's mind with alien visions. Witnessing an Aldebaranian Raygun go off is a Rank 2 Unnatural stress check. Each blast is fueled by a 1-gram slug of 24 karat gold.

SILENT PENNY FARTHING

(MINOR ARTIFACT)

These are one of the few pieces of technology that the Lost Mimes seem to consistently construct on their own. These jet-black Penny Farthing bicycles move in complete silence and makes the rider harder to pay attention to, giving a +20% on secrecy rolls to ride without being seen.

BLOODY FEN-PHEN

(MINOR ARTIFACT)

Determine the target's weight and BMI. If the target is 15 pounds underweight or more, this functions as regular fen-phen with a slight risk of incurring blood-borne pathogens. Otherwise, the target loses sufficient poundage to become 15 pounds underweight, taking 1 pound of damage for every 5 pounds so lost, as they violently expel 'excess' fat and muscle tissue in a blood-soaked wave.

The target's skin does not re-size to accommodate their new weight, but there is no risk of bleeding out. The target incurs a Rank-6 Helplessness check if they survive.

This artifact is especially prized by enemies of the Ordo Corpulentis for its additional effect: If the target has any Phasmata under their command, they become bound to the expurgated mass and animate it in vaguely humanoid form. Phasmata so animated are under the exclusive command of the person whose blood the Fen-Phen has been soaked in. The physical bodies of these Phasmata have Wound Points equal to those that were lost by the target. If their bodies are destroyed, they pass on.

When someone outside the Ordo Corpulentis takes a Bloody Fen-Phen, there's a 15% chance the expurgated matter will be possessed by a particularly driven or desperate demon.

SUDARSHANA CHAKRA

(MAJOR ARTIFACT)

The Eye of the Bull, The Gate to Aldbaran, the Sudarshana Chakra is a 12-foot disc made of solid gold, scaffolded with iron blades and rubies. The entire contraption weighs in at one ton, and the gold alone is worth roughly $20 million, though melting it down and selling it would have drastic metaphysical consequences.

Activating the Chakra: One must complete the Sudarshana Homa while the full moon shines in the sky. For the Homa, one must make a fiery sacrifice of three wolves, three white doves, three newborn babes, three branches of a strangling fig tree, and three bulls. The doves must be stuffed in the babies, which are stuffed in the wolves, which are stuffed in the bulls and are wrapped in the fig-branches.

Once the offerings are reduced entirely to ash and bone, the ritualist must make a ring of the ashes and mix their blood with the ashes. While they mix the ashes and blood, they must chant several mantras intoning the figure of Vishnu, and they must walk the coals from the offering while they chant, without spilling any of the mixture.

At the end of the third day, the portal opens, allowing the ritualist to either enter, or call spirits forth from Aldebaran. Ritualists entering the portal leave their bodies behind in comas until they return. Unless the ritualist has someone on hand to re-cast the ritual soon afterwards, or to secure their body to a safe location, the body will usually die of thirst. Occasionally, demons on the other side of the portal will instead choose to possess the unattended body, doing with it as they will.

GORDIAN KNOT

(SIGNIFICANT ARTIFACT)

The last obstacle before one enters The Midas Vault is largely psychological. Created by means discovered at The Black Site, the Gordian Knot is created from a life subject who is ritualistically deboned and magically enchanted to survive. The boneless, squishy subject is then threaded through the handles of a door and tied into a knot of cunning design.

If you succeed at a Knowledge or relevant identity roll with a 40% difficulty, you can untie the knot and make it through with only a Rank 4 Unnatural Check from having touched the thing.

If you have to saw the sobbing, innocent victim open to get to the gate beyond, expect a Rank 8 Violence check at the least, with Self checks being possible based on the character's values.

SPHINX OF THE WOLF

(UNNATURAL ENTITY)

There is another use of The Sudarshana Chakra- one that is faster, cheaper and easier than physically entering the gate. A bronze statue of a sphinx with Hitler's face lays in front of the Chakra, his mouth open. If you are of 'Aryan' stock and you feed the statue a few drops of blood, it will be possessed by a demon that claims to be Adolf Hitler.

SPHINX OF THE WOLF

(SIGNIFICANT UNNATURAL ENTITY)

Wound Threshold:-85 (The Sphinx takes HtH damage from firearm attacks and takes the lowest die rolled on HtH attacks)

Demon Hitler 65%: I'm Demon Hitler, of course I can recite Mein Kampf, pontificate on the true nature of the Merivognians, get folks good and flustered (Substitutes Lie, Substitutes Knowledge, Casts Rituals)

Animated Bronze Sphinx 85%: Provides wound threshold, substitutes for fitness and struggle. Deals firearms damage.

REVENANT: FAERIES

(UNNATURAL ENTITY)

Note: These Faeries are adapted for 3rd edition from the sourcebook Postmodern Magick.

Not all that die have lived, and some who were never born refuse to stay dead. Such are faeries, revenants born from souls designated to bodies that die before childbirth. These souls, all of their potential constrained, are conscious and full of dreams for a world they never got to see. Now they linger in the world of the living, interfering as they see fit, completely ignorant of our morals or customs.

Faeries tend to be drawn to dreamers and mystics, though they can also concentrate in places where there are a high number of still-births. While they can be dangerous to encounter, there's an advantage to encountering them. Anyone who consumes the ephemeral body a faerie composes shaves ten years off of their life- though the fae are known to hunt down those who try to pull such a trick more than once.

Having no natural bodies, the Fae compose delicate, beautiful forms from leaves, scraps of cellophane and similar such detritus.

FAERIES

(MINOR UNNATURAL ENTITY)

Wound Threshold:-3d10

Telekinesis 35+5d10%: Substitutes for struggle and pursuit. Faeries cannot move any object weighing more than two pounds.

LOST MIME

(UNNATURAL ENTITY)

Silent nomads searching for a home that never was, the Lost Mimes ever seek out things that don't belong. They actively hunt orphans and arcane clues to their origin, but all who wander seem lost.

The lost mimes can be a valuable resource- they have no words, but great knowledge, and can be bargained with if you're able to communicate and keep them from converting you. They can also function as victims or threats in themselves. They're usually benign, even friendly- but they see most humans as wayward brothers who need to be healed.

MIME DENS

Though they are nomads, mimes have scattered dens throughout the catacombs. These catacombs serve as hubs, resting stops and archives. Anywhere from two to a dozen mimes may rest here at any time in addition to one Prophet of the Silent Song who always stands guard.

Each den consists of a cavernous space, several piles of black cloth gathered from throughout the city, four to five iron posts, an enormous pile of 'clues' and a miniature black sun that leeches all sound and color in its presence.

Mimes gather every manner of random object during their wanderings, most of them junk with no clear significance. At the GM's discretion, this may serendipitously include some item or piece of information that is of interest to the story. Mimes carry their clues in mucous-lined pouches on their abdomen until they can deposit and/or exchange at the next den. Sometimes individual mimes keep especially useful or interesting items.

While only a few high-traffic dens have humans chained to iron posts on a regular basis, any given den is prepared to accept several in the event that a party of mimes finds several wayward brothers on one outing. Humans chained in the light of the Black Sun lose 10% on one of their identities per day, until all identities reach 0%. At that point, they begin to acquire the Lost Mime identity at a rate of 5% per day until they reach 50 or leave its light.

Prophets of the Silent Song are the closest things the mimes have to authority figures. They are the keepers of the Lost Mimes' lore, ineffable and fictitious as it may be.

MIMES AND OBJECTIVES

There are many ways the Lost Mimes may help players achieve objectives. Generally, they should expect considerable up-front work brokering a deal with the mimes due to communication difficulties and the Mimes' whole 'ASSIMILATE schtick.

Those who put the effort forth are generally well-rewarded. The mimes understand the history and the layout of the city better than anyone, and can be useful when searching for secret places. They also run across an impressive array of items and secrets on their travel, even if they rarely hold onto them. While they shouldn't become a wild card solution to all problems, it's feasible that they can lead the PCs in a useful direction most of the time.

LOST MIME

(MINOR UNNATURAL ENTITY)

Wound Threshold:-50

Lost Mime 50+2d10%: I'm a Lost Mime, of course I can telekinetically lasso you, protect myself with an invisible wall, move in perfect silence (Substitutes for Struggle, Notice, Connect, Pursuit and Secrets, Provokes Unnatural, Evaluates Isolation)

Prophet of the Silent Song 30+2d10%: I'm a Prophet of the Silent Song, of course I can identify clues and orphans, summon the black light of the mother-sun, find our way back through the catacombs, communicate our myths and history with the power of mime

(Casts rituals, substitutes for knowledge and status, Evaluates Unnatural)

Only about 1 in 12 Lost Mimes is a Prophet*

LOVE LOCK

(UNNATURAL ENTITY)

The practice of scribing names on a padlock as a devotion of love is thought to be over a hundred years old, the earliest known example attributed to a bridge in West Serbia. At the dawn of the new millennium the practice began to spread, eventually reaching Paris, where the weight of the numerous locks nearly tore down the Pont Des Arts bridge.

In June of 2015, officials removed every Love Lock from the bridge, because it's like mundanes just think these things have no consequences or something.

Once the majority of them had been whisked to a landfill somewhere- once they were truly forgotten- the tiny locks rose up.

Individually the locks are tiny- cute, even. They fly around on glittering arms made from shackles broken under their own power, a little like leaden butterflies. But love locks are never alone- they've seen bonds broken once, and have vowed never again.

Love Locks find a strange purpose in their animation. They test the bonds of love, swarming couples to see how they'll react. If people rush to protect their partner, they move on. If not, they stab at both lovers with their broken shackles, trying to murder the relationship itself.

LOVE LOCK SWARM

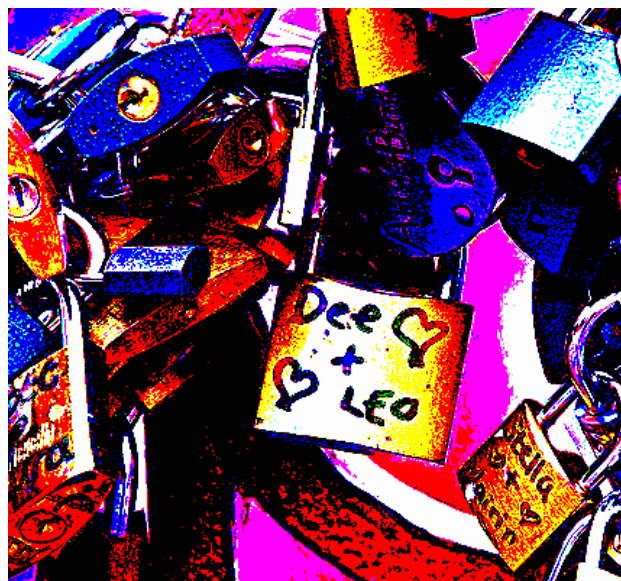

(SIGNIFICANT UNNATURAL ENTITY)

Wound Threshold:50+10d10. Lovelock swarms take the number of the lowest die rolled from all physical attacks. (For instance, if Mouser rolled a 52 to hit, he would do 2 points of damage.)

Swarm 10d10%: Subs for struggle, pursuit, dodge and fitness where applicable. The Love Locks

Relationship Sense 10d10%: The Love Locks use this to spy lovers, defined as couples who have each other listed as their 'favorite.'

Stab to the heart 10d10%: This attack does one damage to the character's wounds, and subtracts the rolled amount from the character's favorite relationship.

THE DOG PLANE

(UNNATURAL ENTITY)

The Burger Builders created this antique plane accidentally while filling it with magic charges to 'chem-trail' over the city. The plane is haunted with the souls of about 100 dogs who died in a nearby puppy mill owned by a now-dead Agrimancer.

Given its origins, the plane is benevolent, though extremely cagey around strangers. It's able to fly around without conventional fuel, though a few hundred pounds of dog food need to be fed into the gas tank over the course of each day. The plane 'lives' on Eglon's ranch, cared for by one of his handlers.

DOG PLANE

(SIGNIFICANT UNNATURAL ENTITY)

Wound Threshold:100.

Antique Plane 80%: Subs for pursuit and struggle. Struggle attacks do firearms damage, but the plane faces a difficulty of 50 fighting anything smaller than a bear.

Chock Full of Dog Souls 40%: Subs for Connect, Secrets, Knowledge

The Statosphere is for fan-made releases of Unknown Armies 3rd edition content, published under a special license and released exclusively through OneBookShelf and their community creator programs.

Unknown Armies created by Greg Stolze and John Tynes

Writing and design: Nimrod Tzarking

Editing and development: Nimrod Tzarking

Unknown Armies graphic design: Thomas Deeny

Art: Rachel Sandle, Chris Shervey*, Daniel Lobo*, Joseph Novak*, VV Nicic*, Shamila Chaudhary, Bill Carlin, Internet Archive Book Images, GSankary*, Ybs*, Matt Rider, Juan Antonio Segal*, Wonderlane*, National Museum of the US Navy, Menonite Church USA Archives, Rose Physical Therapy Group*, Terrence McNally*, Pascal Maramis*, MattysFlicks*, Elvert Barnes*, Psyberartist*, Rafael Castillo*, Tap Tapzz, Kristine Riskaer*, Jacobo Hoyos Zea*, Donald Judge

Creative Commons Licenses (Note: All art has been modified unless mandated otherwise by its license)

*<https://creativecommons.org/licenses/by/2.0/>

<https://creativecommons.org/licenses/by-nd/2.0/>

Public Domain

This product was created under license. Unknown Armies is a trademark of Greg Stolze and John Tynes, used under license by Trident, Inc., d/b/a Atlas Games.

This work contains material that is copyright © 2017 Atlas Games and/or other authors. Such material is used with permission under the Community Content Agreement for the Statosphere UACC.

All other original material in this work is copyright © 2017 by Young Han C. Lester and published under the Community Content Agreement for the Statosphere UACC.