

GUADALUPE PEDREAÑEZ-AULAR

IN SHORT: You started out with traditional Mexican herb-cures but... you drifted.

THE WORST THING THAT EVER HAPPENED TO YOU:

You got greedy and frustrated. You wanted more power, and you told yourself it was to help people—maybe that was even true. But it was also because you wanted it, wanted to be a big shot, wanted to know more or maybe just know better. So you went down some dark weird paths and you met 618835. You don't know why a spirit has a string of numbers as its identity, but you know it sucked the love you had for your husband right out of you. You're certain, with cold intellect, that Joshae is a good man, but you cannot and will not ever feel anything for him. He's very hurt by that, still. The divorce cost you a lot of once-mutual friends.

WHERE YOU ARE NOW: You got your wish. You are revered as a yerbero, a natural healer with an older, different wisdom than doctors who just want you to fill out a shit-ton of forms. Your hit rate with curing alcoholism and drug addiction is far, far superior to any scientific therapy.

You're also a member of the Sleepers. 618835 is proof enough magick is too dangerous to run wild.

YOUR INTRODUCTION TO THE OCCULT:

What a lot of people would call "occult" was always just there as folklore and superstition and religion in your home and family. But "occult" means "hidden" and honestly, most of what was open was... tame. Harmless, for the most part. So you went after the secret behind the secret, which involved trepanation and direct application of alternating current to the "third eye" section of your frontal lobe. That's how you met 618835, the love annihilator, who immediately destroyed your affection for Joshae.

The few people who have any inkling think it's an evil spirit named "GIBBES." You have it trapped in a yam for now, but are always seeking a more permanent solution.

WHY ARE YOU WILLING TO DRIVE TO CANADA AND PREVENT A BURGLARY?:

It's your responsibility. You initially encouraged a sort-of colleague (Dr. Angel Culbard, a western MD, but one with true respect for your Art) and a one-time client (Lee Ybarra, who had a pretty bad oxy addiction) to go steal this giant head because 618835 indicated its potency and you thought it would be better off in its original home in Ohio, rather than on display in some cold Canadian museum. But you now suspect the head is dangerous, and that keeping it in the museum might be the best way to keep its power dormant. GIBBES might have been playing you.

YOUR CABAL

- Mansteel: An incomplete human being—sexist, domineering, unwilling to accept fear. You think he maybe beats his wife.
- Chirp: Mansteel's wife, a quiet pretty little thing. Probably wouldn't say shit if she had a mouthful.
- Count Volpo: An entitled white dude who got into some Germanic werewolf bullshit from the internet. Is maybe taking his first fumbling steps onto a real spiritual path of unification with nature, but so far is more Lon Cheney than shaman. When he's not feral, he has become surprisingly charming and sophisticated. It's like, instead of being green all the time, he spends half his life yellow and half blue.
- Roger Crowne: A friend of Mansteel and Volpo, you think? He's not in the Sleepers with you back in New Mexico. This guy is Canadian and doesn't seem to know anything about Dirk Allen or the book or anything else, really.
- The Darkness: One of the most solid and reliable Sleepers in your group, devoted to the idea of dark-as-tranquility. Gave up their name and gender in pursuit of quenching the light of false consciousness and worldly attachment. You trust them.
- Harper Grilsh: Ooh, a sad story, like many who come to the Sleepers. Grilsh only narrowly escaped the unnatural entity that killed their spouse. You know that whatever did it—the official version is firearm homicide during a home invasion—is now somewhat under Harper's control. It has killed twice more, but—and this isn't something you're comfortable admitting—the victims were real shits, probably better off dead. Harper's on a dark and dangerous path. Or possibly, if you believe The Darkness, a bright and dangerous path.

YOUR JUNK

- The GIBBES yam. To normal senses, it's a plain ol' yam in a pot. Anyone who eats even a sliver of it has what they love most ripped away, never to return. 618835 needs to eat love, desire, or obsession to survive. You think enough of it could even break an adept of their power, but you haven't tested it. You squeeze juice from the yam into the water you feed your scorpions, and can then use the scorpions to help people break their chemical dependencies.
- Assorted herbal cures
- Some of the good (hikuri) peyote that causes true visions
- Some of the bad (tsuwiri) peyote that causes false visions

THE OPPO

Dirk Allen - A writer, alcoholic, and accused murderer who wrote My Name is Dirk A., a 160-page mixture of pulp plagiarism, genuine mystical insight, and baldersdash. It's become a handbook of sorts for the Sleepers.

Sleepers - A shadowy group that attempts to suppress public awareness of the supernatural. Mystics who get "noisy" (who let the mundanes see magic) risk waking the "sleeping tiger." They'll make the mundanes riot. It's your job to keep magiciansss quiet, the public soothed, and the tiger asleep. Rock-a-bye, baby.
