

HARPER GRILSH

IN SHORT: You used to have a blandly typical suburban life until a toy bunny came to life and shot you and your spouse. You still have the bunny.

THE WORST THING THAT EVER HAPPENED TO YOU: ...the aforementioned “toy bunny shooting.” It was some real horror movie stuff—creaks and shadowy movement in the house over several nights, getting worse and worse until you were alone and it came for you.

It was this ratty rabbit stuffy that just showed up in your daughter Gail’s playroom one day. She was six, she and her friends had a very loose grasp of private property, always borrowing and lending clothes and toys and everything, and after the intense selfishness of age three and four, you weren’t about to discourage her from anything that was in the “sharing” ballpark.

It... it grew a gun out of its mouth. It changed size. It chased you through the house and cornered you and you were freaking out. I mean, it was impossible, but it was there. Your spouse, Leslie, got home just as it shot you in the stomach, and they fought. Gail screamed and screamed and then... then you almost saw what it really was, what was behind the bunny; it was going out the window and it fired once, it got...

Well, you survived. Your sister has custody of Gail. That’s for the best. You had to do some in-patient, for the mental stuff, even after you recovered from having part of your intestines resectioned. (You still can’t eat spicy food, which sucks when you live in New Mexico.)

It was real though, and you knew the whole time. You lied to the cops so that the in-patient stuff wouldn’t go long-term and eat up the life insurance money.

Gail knew too. “The bad toys can’t hurt kids,” she told you. “Only grown-ups. They only come to life when you’re alone.”

WHERE YOU ARE NOW: Well, you’ve mostly recovered. You have a job you can do from home (debugging code for industrial machinery), not seeing anyone. You and Gail get together on holidays. She’s way better off with your sister. She now thinks all the bad toy stuff was a hallucination, and why wouldn’t she?

YOUR INTRODUCTION TO THE OCCULT: The aforementioned rabbit. You’ve captured it. You know its rules now. Its name is “Fun Bun.”

WHY ARE YOU WILLING TO DRIVE TO CANADA AND PREVENT A BURGLARY?: You joined a group called the Sleepers, all people whose lives have been screwed up by the paranormal, all willing to do what it takes to keep a lid on it. You’d be in a much worse place without Guadalupe, so if she says this is important, you’re in.

YOUR CABAL

- Guadalupe: In your previous life, you would have pitied her as ignorant, superstitious and poor. Now you revere her as wise and courageous. You’d take a bullet for her.
- The Darkness: Not sure you’d take a bullet for The Darkness, your Sleeper study group’s upbeat, gender-neutral zen nihilist. There have been some hints that The Darkness, like you, is associated with some kind of normally unseen paranormal threat. If so, like you, they’re trying to come to an arrangement.
- Count Volpo: Kind of kooky, but you like the guy. He switches between being like Frasier Crane with the opinions about wine and opera and fine Italian footwear... and talking about primal nature and unleashing the bloody wolf of his soul. It’s never dull.
- Mansteel & Chirp: You think of this couple—who don’t wear wedding rings, but you never see them apart—as a single unit. The stink of codependency comes off them in waves, but they’re very reticent about any actual paranormal experiences. In fact, meetings are the only time you see Chirp (the quiet, demure little woman) without Mansteel (the blustery loudmouth with the pinkie ring). They ain’t right, but then again, neither are you.
- Roger Crowne: Some new guy. Quiet. Showed up in Canada. Mostly hangs with Chirp and Mansteel. Hm.

YOUR JUNK

- Fun Bun the Bad Toy. It’s a ratty plush rabbit, in direct sunlight. Bright, unambiguous light suppresses its bad side more than anything else. When a limited number of adults are aware of it, it can move around... do spooky poltergeist stuff; whisper and giggle. With just a few adults in the dark, it can make a gun barrel come out of its mouth and shoot, and it can move fast. You’ve killed two people with it just by leaving it somewhere they’d find it when they were alone. (It’s OK, one was conducting human sacrifices and the other was an occult assassin involved in the drug trade.) It needs to kill, though manifesting stuff tires it out. As long as you keep it in light or have lots of grown-up people looking at it, it’s safe. Well... less dangerous.
- Ford minivan.
- High-end laptop and android phone.

THE OPPO

Sleepers - A shadowy group that attempts to suppress public awareness of the supernatural. Mystics who get “noisy” (who let the mundanes see magic) risk waking the “sleeping tiger.” They’ll make the mundanes riot. It’s your job to keep magicians quiet, the public soothed, and the tiger asleep. Rock-a-bye, baby.

Name: Harper Grilsh
Cabal: The Oppo
Current Objective: Prevent a 600-pound stone head in a museum in Québec from falling into the wrong hands.
Distinguishing Characteristics:

RAGE

Inspid happiness

NOBLE

Helping people overcome their internal contradictions

FEAR

Emotional entanglements

Guadalupe

45% Favorite
(Status)

The Sleepers

45% Guru
(Notice)

The Darkness

50% Mentor
(Connect)

Chirp

50% Responsibility
(Knowledge)

Count Volpo

45% Protégé
(Fitness)

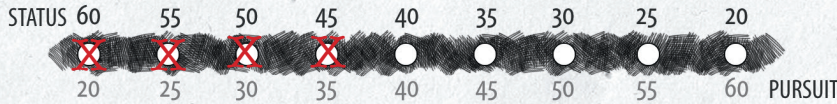

HELPLESSNESS

FAILURES

Defend with Status
Attack with Connect

ISOLATION

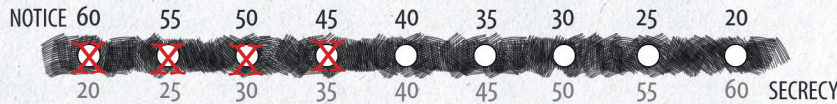

Defend with Connect
Attack with Status

SELF

Defend with Notice
Attack with Knowledge

UNNATURAL

Defend with Knowledge
Attack with Secrecy

VIOLENCE

Defend with Fitness
Attack with Struggle

IDENTITIES

I'm a cozy suburban professional, of course I can borrow an air compressor, call on church friends, talk
frankly to the cops

Failed! ☐ 70 %

Substitutes for Ability: Status

Feature: Substitutes for Knowledge

Feature: Unique: Computer Stuff

OBSSESSION IDENTITY

I'm a, of course I can
Failed! ☐ %

Substitutes for Ability:

Feature:

Feature:

I'm a, of course I can
Failed! ☐ %

Substitutes for Ability:

Feature:

Feature:

I'm a, of course I can
Failed! ☐ %

Substitutes for Ability:

Feature:

Feature:

WOUND
THRESHOLD

50

00823

a. Percentage

50

For Official Use Only
ST-0-LZ3

1. Supernatural
Ability

2a. ☐ Vague ☐ Specific

Monster
Stopper

2b. ☐ Harm ☐ Information ☐ Protection

3. ☐ Influence ☐ Versatility

4. Notes

FEATURE: Casts rituals.

FEATURE: Gutter magick.

UNIQUE: Controls Fun Bun. (See character dossier.)

Form SUPERNATURAL 3 permission granted to photocopy for personal use